Biography

Alan M. Williams

Co-Founder, CEO

Few experts today understand how to solve the financial problems facing most individuals like Alan Williams, a nationally published author, speaker and personal financial mentor. For nearly 40 years he has worked in corporate and financial management.

In 1994, Williams co-founded Time & Money, LLC, a Utah-based service company specializing in principle-based money management, and is a principle author and developer of the Money Mastery® personal financial management system, a financial literacy and coaching program that helps individuals, families and corporations get in total control of their finances. Today, along with his coaching and speaking duties, he serves as CEO of Time & Money, LLC.

Mentor

Alan Williams has coached thousands of people across the U.S. and Canada. His extensive knowledge in debt restructuring, insurance, tax law, investment management, and estate organization allows him to provide unique inter-related training between all areas of personal finance.

Seminar Speaker

Williams has given seminars across the U.S. and Canada since 1994. His mission is to educate, inspire and motivate people to make significant changes in their lives through the application of proven financial principles.

Author

Alan Williams is the co-author of MONEY: What Financial “Experts” Will Never Tell You, which received a five-star rating from Amazon.com. He is also co-authored the Money Mastery® Personal Financial Management System.

Background

Williams has been instrumental in the successful start-up, development, management, marketing, and sale of several U.S. and Canadian companies. Prior to forming Time & Money, he served as president and CEO of a multi-million dollar telecommunications company, as president of the Canadian-based land acquisitions company, Bar KW Ranches, Ltd., and as a sales director for Pfizer, Inc. He has also served as a credit union director and as a university senator.

He and his wife currently live in Utah and are the parents of three children.
